Community Input Requested for Suicide Prevention and Intervention Plan

Pueblo, Colo. October 3, 2007 – In 1998, Governor Romer developed the Colorado Suicide Prevention and Intervention Plan to address Colorado’s high suicide rate, assess trends and identify recommendations to address the problem. This year, the plan is being updated and will incorporate the participation of many partners across the state dedicated to preventing suicide and who aim to reduce Colorado’s suicide rate, which is 7th highest in the nation.

Miriam Dunnan, Project Director states, “We love and promote Colorado as a year-round mountain playground. Yet, our beautiful state has one of the highest suicide rates in the nation. That’s unacceptable.”

Mental Health America of Colorado (formerly the Mental Health Association of Colorado) and the Pueblo Suicide Resource Center are coordinating the fourth of five stakeholder meetings to gather feedback about the needs and solutions that will reduce suicide in our state. First Lady of Colorado, Mrs. Jeannie Ritter is the Honorary Chairperson of the Advisory Council.

What: Suicide Prevention and Intervention Plan Stakeholder Meeting

When: Wednesday, October 3, 2007
Noon to 4:00 p.m.

Where: Pueblo County Conference Center
1001 N. Santa Fe
Pueblo, CO

Who: Members of the community interested in reducing suicide in Colorado including: mental health professionals, consumers, educators, individuals and family members who have lost a loved one to suicide, policy makers, representatives of nonprofits working the health or mental health fields.

“Through this partnership process, we are determined to bring together the best input and strategies for suicide prevention and intervention. These programs will provide life saving services. We all have a stake in this issue and we can all bring good ideas to the table to create a successful plan,” stated Jeanne M. Rohner, President and CEO of Mental Health America of Colorado.

The meeting in Pueblo is the fourth in a series of regional meetings that will be held across the state through fall 2007, culminating in a comprehensive plan which is expected to be completed by May, 2008. Coordinated, statewide prevention efforts, reduction in suicides and suicide attempts as well as increased mental health funding are expected outcomes of the taskforce.
